

REMARKS - General

Also applicants have rewritten all claims to define the invention more particularly and distinctly so as to overcome the technical rejections and define the invention patentably over the prior art. The claims have been written with specific items and elements that are not in Flanagan (US 6,292,769). Applicant has added additional elements to the patent to address the Section 102 concerns of the Examiner. The new claims are now novel and non-obvious to someone skilled in the arts.

Conclusion

For all of the above reasons, applicant submits that the specification and claims are now in proper form, and that the claims all define patentably over prior art. Therefore the applicant submits that this application is now in condition for allowance, which action is respectfully solicited.

Respectfully submitted,
